After the usual preliminary business of calling the roll and reading the minutes of the previous meeting. Mr Cavenagh proposed as new members Wm. Oliphant, Fred Leslie and Harry Hamilton. Mr. Kohm seconded and they were elected. Mr. Cavenagh proposed and Mr. Crowley seconded Mr. M. T. Marshall. Carried.

The chairman briefly explained to the several new members and visitors present the object of the society. He said that an union amongst workingmen involved happiness. If justice were properly dealt out there would be universal happiness, be cause nature is so bountiful that everyone will be happy if everyone has justice. He hoped that those who were present and did not belong to the society, would do so at once and thereby aid the society in its views.

Mr. Cavenagh read the following report of the Executive Committee:

Resolved, that upon the arrival of the much abused German women a subscription list be started, headed with a certain sum, to be decided upon at the next meeting of the Executive Committee. The report was ordered to be received and

The Chairman of the colief committee read his report which was unanimously accepted. The imployment committee had no report to make, but Mr. Cavenagh stated that he knew of a vacant position on a milk ranch where good wages would be paid to a good man.

The special committee on German laborers reported that the men who had been in gaol had elected to go back to the plantation from whence they came. They propose to try and make arrangements to work as they had been promised better treatment and better fare than formerly. | and, wasting no time in sighing over their Mr. Kohm, by the advice of Mr. Russell, attorney- misfortune, soon resumed their dangerous at-law, had recommended them to return to Kauai. work. The Captain and nine of his crew He added that their case had been so badly handled by the lawyer engaged to defend them, that there was no chance of their bettering themselves by remaining here.

Mr. Crowley said he was glad the men had decided to go back, and he hoped their treatment would be more human than it had been representto him. He also related what he had heard about their wives. It had been resolved, that if they were not fairly treated, the plantation owners would hear of it. The speaker freely expressed his opinion on the subject of contract labor. He believed this to be the only country in the world that professed to be civilized where depositions | fied that the defendants had called her bad names, were not taken by a magistrate when a complaint and also used disgusting language towards her. Mr. Crowley reported having received $2 for the benefit of the Society from an anonymous denor. The meeting accepted the money and tendered their thanks to the donor. The Treasurer made his report up to the 6th November, showing the receipts and expenditures to be of equal amount. No balance in hand, Mr. Cavenagh moved that the special committee on German laborers be discharged. Carried.

Mr. Cavenagh next drew attention to the forthcoming election of Representatives in the Legislature. He understood there was a gentleman who was prepared to offer himself on behalf of the Socisty. The workingmen were a small crowd, but they were a representative crowd. He would sug- taxes, he will be likely to suggest the repeal of gest that a list of questions be drawn up, and submitted to the candidate who might offer himself for Legislative honors on their behalf.

The Chairman said it was not the intention of the Society to go into politics, but they would like their representative to test some of the labor is

The meeting then proceeded to the election of a committee to draw up a series of questions to be propounded to the candidate for the Legislature, which resulted in the election of Messrs. Crowley, Z. Squires, Marchant, Max Kohm and J. E. Sher-

In proposing Mr. Squires, Mr. Murray said that it was he (Mr. S.) who had organized the Society with the special object of doing away with contract labor.

Mr. E. ff. Ward was asked by Mr. Cavenagh to address the meeting. He considered that they had too much musele and not enough brain.

Mr. Ward said that he did not feel in a physical position to speak as he was suffering from hourseness. In his brief remarks he hoped the work they had undertaken would be properly looked after, and be for the common benefit of all. He was sorry that he did not belong to the Society, but not being of their class, he considered himself ineligible. In conclusion he said he was nothing, in fact nobody.

The Chairman said he was of a different opinion from Mr. Ward about his being admissible to the Society. The members of the organization were workingmen, and he considered everyone a workingman who lived by his muscle or his brain for his own support. Those who are excluded, are the speculators who live upon the labor of others. what he called profit-mongers-men who are not useful members of society, but who deprive the so constructing the main body of the ship producers of their rights. He believed in the French proverb "Honi soit qui maly pense," which according to the speaker's translation. was "D-d be him who thinks evil."

Mr. Crowley proposed Mr. Ward as a member, and being duly seconded, he was elected with great eclat. Mr. Ward stepped up and paid his initiation

Mr. Marchant, the Vice President, proposed that they put a candidate of their own in the Legislature, for the special purpose of bringing forward the grievances of the laboring classes, who now groan under oppression, before the heads of the Government, in fact before the throne itself.
